

Command Sergeant Major Jonathan S. Lutgens is a native of Jacksonville, Florida. On March 25, 1982, he joined the U.S. Army Reserve as a Military Police officer; he enlisted in the regular Army, November 1990, as an infantryman. He has held all positions of responsibility from team leader to senior enlisted leader in the infantry. Command Sgt. Maj. Lutgens currently serves as the senior enlisted leader of U.S. Army Garrison Pohakuloa. Prior to this assignment, he served as the current operations Sgt. Maj. for U.S. Army North, January 2012-July 2013.

Command Sgt. Maj. Lutgens and his wife, Grace, have two sons and one daughter. His prior deployments include Bosnia/Kosovo, and numerous deployments to Afghanistan and Iraq. Command Sgt. Maj. Lutgens' military education includes all levels of the NCO Education System, culminating with the U.S. Army Sergeants Major Academy. He is a graduate of Air Assault School, Airborne School, Mechanized Leaders Course, Combative Instructor Course, Drill Instructor and Ranger School. Command Sgt. Maj. Lutgens is currently in his final semester at Excelsior College, pursuing his bachelor's degree in Liberal Arts.

His awards include the Bronze Star (two Oak Leaf Clusters), the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Joint Meritorious Service Medal, the Meritorious Service Medal (four Oak Leaf Clusters), the Army Commendation Medal (Silver Oak Leaf Cluster), the Army Achievement Medal (10 Oak Leaf Clusters) and numerous other medals and ribbons. In addition to the Combat Infantryman Badge, he has earned the Expert Infantryman Badge, Airborne Badge, Air Assault Badge, Drill Sergeant Badge and the Ranger Tab.