FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Army seeks input at public meeting on archaeological survey

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Hawaii – The U.S. Army is hosting a public meeting, July 29, to seek public comments on its archaeological survey at Makua Military Reservation.

The meeting will be held in the Waianae High School Cafetorium (85-251 Farrington Highway, Waianae, HI 96792), and will start with an informational display viewing at 6:30 p.m.

At 7 p.m., Army staff will provide a brief overview of the survey, followed by a facilitated public comment period until 9:30 p.m.

Interested individuals can view or download the survey report online at www.garrison.hawaii.army.mil/makua. Click “2014 Archaeological Subsurface Survey” on the left side of the Web page.

The survey report is also available at the Waianae, Kapolei, Wahiawa and Waialua public libraries, under the title “Archaeological Subsurface Survey in Areas B through F at Mākua Military Reservation, Mākua Ahupua‘a Wai‘anae District, O‘ahu Island, Hawai‘i.”

In consideration of the environment, hard copies of the report are available upon request by calling (808) 656-3089.

The 60-day public comment period for the survey runs through Aug. 13, 2014. In addition to the public meeting, individuals can also submit comments via email to usaghi.pao.comrel@us.army.mil or via mail to: U.S. Army Garrison–Hawaii, Environmental Division, Attn: Makua Archaeological Subsurface Survey – Public Comments, 948 Santos Dumont Ave., Schofield Barracks, HI 96857. Comments must be emailed or postmarked no later than August 13.
